

Grit Test

3.10/5.00

This is about what I expected. Just above the middle. Due to my current mindset I often get extremely discouraged about the smallest of setbacks, but I usually finish what I start anyway. Part of the reason for this score may have been that I didn't feel strongly either way about many of the answers, so I also answered on the more vague side of things because it's not always easy to try to think of a situation that applies to the question. But yeah, I think I have a tiny bit more grit than the average person, but still not a whole lot, so this score makes sense.

X

Your Grit Score

You scored higher than about 30% of American adults in a recent study.

MORE ABOUT GRIT

Share Your Score with Friends

